

The Voodoo is your home for the best improvisational comedy in Denver! We feature over 20 different hilarious unscripted Denver improv comedy shows, ranging from the improvised Broadway musicals of Hit & Run: Musical Improv™, to the amazing literary prowess of Makeshift Shakespeare. Every show is original, never to be repeated. Join us for a drink and a laugh, make new friends, and be a part of Denver's growing improv community!

LOCAL SHOWS

Voodoo Comedy Playhouse is home to many of Denver's longest running and highly regarded improv comedy shows. The regularly scheduled shows include, but are not limited to:

Hit & Run: Musical Improv

Makeshift Shakespeare

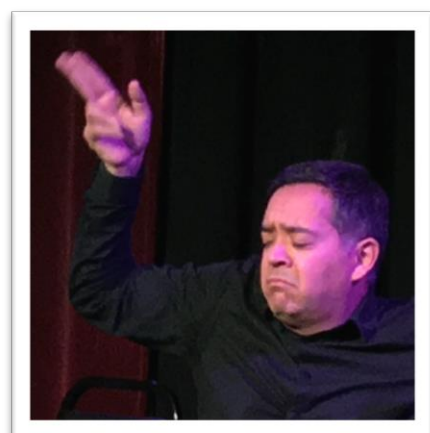

DORK: Improvised Dungeons & Dragons

Improv Utopia Camp Night & Community Jam

NATIONAL ACTS

In addition to the great local shows, Voodoo Comedy Playhouse attracts unique comedy stars not often seen at other comedy clubs, such as:

Kevin McDonald (Kids In The Hall), Frank Conniff & Trace Beaulieu (Mystery Science Theater 3000), Brian Babylon (NPR's Wait Wait Don't Tell Me), TJ Miller (Deadpool, HBO's Silicon Valley) Armondo Diaz (Conan O'Brien), and Ithamar Enriquez (Key and Peele, Arrested Development).

CLASSES & WORKSHOPS

While many of the visiting stars offer one day workshops for local writers, comedians, and actors, there are weekly classes for those seeking an introduction to improv, as well as for the advanced performer looking to take their skills to the next level.

Drop In Improv Classes are every Monday and Tuesday, between 6-7:30pm. $5 suggested donation. More information at VoodooComedy.com/dropin/

The Voodoo School of Improv offers structured 8-week courses with professional-grade instruction culled from the masters in Chicago and Los Angeles. Classes begin every 2 months and Level 1 is only $99. More info at VoodooComedy.com/school/
